Why choose Montana Tech Business?

From automating processes and systems to reducing waste and inefficiency, both business and information technology are critical to organizations in every industry.

Hands-On Learning

Through hands-on learning experiences, such as class projects, case studies, business simulations, and a senior capstone project, you'll learn to apply business concepts to real-world business situations. Your faculty mentors will also help connect you to high-quality, hands-on business internships with companies of interest to you.

Excellent Facilities

As a business and information technology major, you'll have access to exceptional computer labs equipped with double monitors, SAP Enterprise System software, Tableau Analytics, cloud collaboration software, video conferencing, and much more.

With a business information technology degree, you'll have the business and technical knowledge and skills to design, improve, and support enterprise-wide systems and business- to-business processes.

Unique Degree

Learn to leverage innovative information technology so you can be a leader in tomorrow's business world. SAP is the world's third largest software and programming company, and Montana Tech is the only member of the SAP University Alliance in Montana. SAP is integrated into our curriculum so you get exposure before anyone else.

Spectacular Location

Beyond having access to business internships and job opportunities, Montana Tech's location in Butte, Montana, provides you with endless outdoor opportunities, including hiking, biking, skiing, and fishing. Historic Butte also offers a vibrant art scene, with galleries, music venues, festivals, and theaters.

BE THE PROBLEM SOLVER

"The Department of Business built my confidence with handling real- world business problems and helped me grow my professional network, leading to multiple employment offers before my graduation."

- Erynn Metesh, Class of 2022
